New China committee debuts with eye on major policy shifts

By KEVIN FREKING
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House committee dedicated to countering China will make its debut on Tuesday, the opening act in what lawmakers hope will be a robust effort to overcome partisan divisions and address a "generational challenge" to America's national security.

The committee's chairman, Rep. Mike Gallagher, R-Wis., says he's looking to bridge differences rather than exploit them. One of the former Marine's first efforts in that regard will be a hearing focused on informing Americans about what he says is the threat posed by the Chinese Communist Party.

Gallagher has grand visions for the Select Committee on the Chinese Communist Party. He hopes it can shepherd competing bills over the finish line during the next two years and issue a set of recommendations on long-term policies. But as the committee holds its first hearing Tuesday evening in prime time, his first mission will be to communicate to Americans what is at stake.

"We're doing some level-setting here: Why should someone care about the threat posed by the CCP?" Gallagher said. "Or to put it differently, what did we get wrong about the Chinese Communist Party and what do we need to get right about it so as to have a more successful and enduring strategy going forward?"

So far, Gallagher appears to have Democratic buy-in and support. The vote to create the committee was bipartisan, 365-65. Opponents on the Democratic side largely voiced the concern that the committee could stir an even greater rise in anti-Asian hate crimes. Gallagher said he is committed to ensuring the focus is on the Chinese Communist Party, not on the people of China.

"We want to lead with that sort of human rights focused, values-focused agenda," Gallagher said. "And that's an area of unity, too, for a lot of Democrats and Republicans."

Rep. Raja Krishnamoorthi, D-Ill., the ranking Democrat on the committee, said the CCP is counting on lawmakers to be "fractious, divided, partisan and we have to do the opposite."

"We have no choice but to rise to the challenge at this point. It's that serious," Krishnamoorthi said.

Rep. Ro Khanna of California, another Democrat on the committee, said he expects Gallagher will set a sobering tone.

"The hope is that Congress can still rise to a generational challenge, and that is getting our China policy correct," Khanna said. "And there are areas that can be bipartisan, from bringing good jobs back to making sure we're deterring any invasion in the Taiwan Strait."

The witnesses for Tuesday's hearing includes two former advisers to President Donald Trump: Matthew Pottinger, the deputy national security adviser who resigned immediately after the Jan. 6, 2021, insurrection at the U.S. Capitol; and H.R. McMaster, who was national security adviser from February 2017 to April 2018.

McMaster is no stranger to testifying about the threats he sees from China. He has warned Congress that the U.S. clung too long to the idea that China would liberalize its economy and form of governance as it was welcomed into international systems like the World Trade Organization.

He has recommend the U.S. not engage in trade or investment that transfers sensitive technology the CCP can use to gain military and economic advantages. He also has testified the U.S. should not do business in China in a way that helps the CCP stifle freedom and perfect its technology-enabled police state.

Tong Yi, a Chinese human rights advocate, will amplify those concerns at the hearing. She was arrested in the 1990s after serving as an interpreter to a leading dissident who had urged the U.S. to condition trade on China's human rights performance. She spent nine months in detention before being handed a two-and-half year sentence for "disturbing social order" and sent to a labor camp, where she said authorities organized other inmates to beat her up.

"In the U.S., we need to face the fact that we have helped feed the baby dragon of the CCP until it has grown into what it now is," she said in prepared remarks provided to The Associated Press. "Since the 1990s, U.S. companies have enriched themselves by exploiting cheap labor in China and have, in the process, also enriched the CCP."

Scott Paul, president of an alliance formed by some manufacturing companies and the United Steelworkers labor union, will testify that "51 years of wishful thinking by American leaders" has failed to alter the dynamic that the CCP represents a "clear and present danger to the American worker, our innovation base, and our national security."

The reaction to a suspected Chinese spy balloon in the U.S. earlier this month demonstrates the political tightrope that lawmakers will walk to prevent the committee from becoming a dividing force rather than a uniting one. Republicans were highly critical of the Biden administration for not shooting down the balloon days earlier than it did, while Democrats defended Biden and stressed that he followed the military's recommendation on when to take it down.

Gallagher said he suspects there are at least 10 pieces of legislation that the committee can endorse in a bipartisan fashion. Still, he said the members will be looking for support from House Speaker Kevin McCarthy before it backs any legislation. One of the biggest challenges is that jurisdiction over the issues involving China is spread across numerous committees and members of those committees will want a say.

"I think we can play a constructive coordinating function between the committees to ensure that good ideas don't die just because of some committee's cracks or they get referred to multiple committees," Gallagher said.

An example of such an issue is a proposed ban on the purchase of farmland by entities affiliated with the CCP. He said about 10 bills have already been filed to enact that sort of ban.

"That's a perfect of example of why this committee exists, because without it, you just have 10 individual members working in isolation and not necessarily cooperating, and thereby increasing the likelihood that this issue never gets addressed," Gallagher said.

"So, we can, on behalf of the speaker, weigh all these various proposal and see if we can get the members who have the bills to agree on one approach and then work it through the committee process and get it passed on the floor," he said.

PET OF THE WEEK: Reggie

Reggie is a really cute 36-pound terrier mix. He came into the shelter almost a month ago as a stray but he was turned in with another dog who has since been adopted. Reggie is active, yet affectionate. He loves to play and is a great dog in a medium size dog package. Reggie has what is called cherry eye on one of his eyes. It does not bother him but cosmetically he has extra flesh in the corner of his eye. His new owner can always get that removed if they choose to. He is up to date on vaccines, microchipped, heartworm negative, neutered and ready to go home the same day he is adopted. Interested? You're in luck! For the entire month of February due to some renovations going on at the shelter all the dogs and cats that are over 6 months old are only $10 to adopt. Tell your friends now is a great time to adopt! Animal Services is open for adoptions Monday through Saturday this week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with extended adoption hours on Wednesdays until 6:30 p.m. Stop by and meet Reggie and all his other puppy dog friends. If you want to see other available dogs and cats go to www.seminolecountypets.com. Seminole County Animal Services is located at 232 Eslinger Way Sanford.

OPINIONS

Joe Biden turns the American government into Wokeness, Inc.

By Ben Shapiro

Last week, as Presidents Day weekend loomed, the Biden administration dropped a little-noticed executive order. That executive order happened to be one of the broadest, most transformative executive orders in modern American history; it turned the federal government into one giant machine designed for the propagation of woke principles. The so-called "Executive Order On Further Advancing Racial Equity And Support For Underserved Communities Through The Federal Government" -- presumably titled in jargonistic gobbledygook in order to avoid scrutiny -- set out the key guiding principle for the Biden administration. This principle, "equity," will now be used to redirect the entirety of the federal government's awesome powers.

What, pray tell, is "equity"? It certainly isn't equality -- the presumption that Americans ought to be treated equally under the law as individuals. Instead, equity presumes that any group disparities must be the result of perverse government policy, and that the only corrective is government interventionism. The new executive order suggests that "by advancing equity, the Federal Government can support and empower all Americans, including the many communities in America that have been underserved, discriminated against, and adversely affected by persistent poverty and inequality." Poverty, you see, is purely the outgrowth of discrimination and lack of service. Individuals must never be implicated in their own failures, nor can cultural differences justify group underperformance. As Ibram X. Kendi more bluntly puts it, "As an anti-racist, when I see racial disparities, I see racism."

The solution, therefore, is that government must correct all policy that allows for the annoyingly eternal human conditions of poverty and inequality. Biden's executive order dictates that equity be "embedded... into the fabric of Federal policymaking and service delivery." This will not be a "one-time project"; it must instead be a "multigeneral commitment, and it must remain the responsibility of agencies across the Federal Government." To that end, virtually every agency of government must establish an "Agency Equity Team... to coordinate the implementation of equity initiatives." Every aspect of government down to the design, development and acquisition of artificial intelligence must advance equity.

Nothing gives the president of the United States the unilateral authority to reshape the entire executive branch into an agent of "equity." That is a legislative function, and the legislature has given no such grant of power. But Biden is doing it anyway. And that means stacking -- presumably for generations to come -- a Deep State of "equity"-driven Left-wing bureaucrats throughout the federal government, systematizing the equity agenda throughout the unelected and unanswerable areas of the executive branch.

This is dangerous, and it must be stopped. It is violative of constitutional principles, both in terms of separation of powers and under the equal protection clause -- which is designed to prevent precisely the sort of group-driven resource allocation Biden favors. Stopping this executive order must become the first priority of the Republican House, and of future Republican presidential candidates.

Biden is deliberately planting a poisonous seed in the fertile soil of the world's most powerful executive branch. That seed will bear hideous fruit as the years roll by. The only answer is to uproot the seed before it begins to sprout.

SNARKY McSNIDE SAYS,

Those New Yorkers are really excited

What are they excited about?

Our Governor, Ron DeSantis

Besides The Donald calling him DeSanctimonious, there is a lady, with a hyphenated name, up in New York, calling him a fascist. She writes regularly for CNN, The Atlantic and the Huffington Post. She has written several books about Benito Mussolini, the dictator of Italy from the 20s until the 40s. He got the Benito because his father was an admirer of Benito Juarez in Mexico.

It's a simple conclusion, DeSantis must be a fascist because he has an Italian name, his parents were just off the boat from Italy, his grandparents, great grandparents and on and on are Italian. Thus he must have some fascism in there somewhere.

The New Yorker magazine is after him this week.

They are all calling him names. What does that show? It shows weakness on their part. It is, in logic, a false argument. The term is the Latin phrase, argumentum ad hominem. It means attacking the character, physical features, motives, or other attributes of a person but not addressing the substance of what he is saying.

In DeSantis's case, he is beating them on outlawing discussion of sexual proclivities in the third grade. His stand on mask mandates resonates with the general public. His rejection of a "woke" agenda appeals to middle America. The list goes on and on.

Thus the Democrats and Trump have teamed up to take him down.

Time will tell.

Congressman visits Principles of Public Service Program

By Shaina Kaprow
Student Correspondent - Winter Springs High School

On January 20, Congressman Cory Mills, alongside multiple other SCPS representatives, including Superintendent Beamon, visited Winter Springs High School to see a demonstration of the Principles of Public Service Program at the school.

The students showed off their various skills in different fields such as fingerprint lifts, blood spatter analysis, and tracing bullets. The visitors were able to talk with the students about the program and the different activities they were doing. Congressman Mills came to observe the school to see how the program works at its different levels and specifications. He was also able to talk with the students about the culture in the school and other programs they are in, what they are learning, and so much more.

The course itself has four main parts. All students begin in the general Principles of Public Service class, and then can split into one of three specifications. Criminal Justice Operations, Emergency Planning and Response, and Introduction to Teaching.

According to the school's curriculum guide, the Criminal Justice program is focused on "the technical and social skills needed as they explore the career field of Law Enforcement." Anastasia Walker, a junior in her third year of the program, found that the class helped her find a career for the future in forensics. The program "encouraged and specified" her goals for the future while also giving her the opportunity to gain hands-on experience in the field.

In the Emergency Planning and Response specification of the course they "develop the knowledge required to understand the steps used in the development of a comprehensive approach to emergency planning, response, and recovery." Senior Marco Gonzalez, found that the program definitely helped him decide that he wants to work in the medical field in the future. The class has shown him what it would be like to be in the emergency situations he is likely to encounter in his planned career.

The program has helped, and will continue to help, many students at Winter Springs to find and plan for the right path for them, while opening up many new options they may not have considered. The variety the program offers to the student body of new possibilities and skills which will prepare them for the future.

Donutste Doughnuts: Chef Shalom's Fight for Flavor

Chef Shalom, founder of Donutste Doughnuts, quickly attained cult status in markets around Central Florida, where their plant-based donuts spread through word of mouth. Custard filled-creme brulee donuts with crunchy sugar shells, fire-roasted smores donuts with chocolate cream and graham cracker topping, and bright pink lemonade donuts with fresh Meyer lemon are just a portion of Donutste Doughnut's rotating seasonal selection. All Donutste Doughnuts are made without animal ingredients, crafted lovingly with plants. What inspires one to take on such a huge task, as starting a vegan donut business? For Chef Shalom, it began with his New York City childhood.

Although he was born-and-raised in what some consider the center of the world, his Brooklyn upbringing rarely put him in contact with the mysterious herbs and spices he'd read about when flipping through his mom's cookbooks (he grew up in what is called a "food desert"). His limited access to fresh enhancements did not deter him. Chef Shalom relayed to me a memory about reading a recipe for the classic mojito, muddled with fresh mint leaves and lime. Fresh mint seemed like a fantasy food–something from a far-off land. Indeed, to retrieve it, he'd have to venture far, hopping on the subway to Manhattan to find fresh ingredients such as this, where he also fell in love with the depths of Vietnamese cinnamon or Meyer lemons.

Instead of attempting to replicate dairy ingredients (namely milk and eggs), Chef Shalom meditated on what the ideal doughnut should taste like. Then he proceeded to lock himself in a kitchen for several weeks until he found the perfect combination that would lend itself not only to incredible texture but also transcendental flavors. For Chef Shalom, spices are more than spices, they're a fight: a fight for flavor, a battle for access, and most of all, a celebration of plants. It became his life mission to not just make food that was "good for plant-based" but just good.

By all measures, he has succeeded, in making the World's Best Doughnuts that frequently sell out in the wee hours of the Lake Mary Farmer's Market each Saturday Morning. Support Black-owned businesses by visiting the Donutste Doughnut booth at the Lake Mary's Farmer's Market starting at 9 a.m. every Saturday morning.

Oviedo Council sets hearing for annexation of local church

By Anthony Singletary
Herald Intern
Interns@MySanfordHerald.com

During the Oviedo City Council's meeting on Feb. 21, a public hearing was set for the annexation of 4.84 acres of land on the south side of Boston Cemetery Road, which contains the Antioch M.B. Church.

This annexation was petitioned for by the administrator of the church, Dr. Stanley H. Stone. The land is currently categorized as an unincorporated area of Seminole County. This means that, while they do not have their own local government, they still must follow the laws of the county and all higher governing bodies. Florida Statutes state that these territories can petition for annexation if they meet the following criteria:

1. Must be contiguous to the municipality's corporate boundary;
2. Be reasonably compact; and
3. Not create an enclave.

As the current plot of land inhabited by the church is already an enclave, which is an unincorporated territory surrounded entirely by a municipality, the annexation would actually eliminate an already existing enclave. The petition was passed, and a public hearing was set for Monday, March 6.

County and Central Florida.

"We have unity in this county, we stand beside one another in this county, and we stand beside our Jewish neighbors," Sheriff Chitwood said at the beginning of a nearly hourlong news conference attended by leaders from across the county and state. "We are not going to tolerate this."

Sheriff Chitwood called the meeting following a series of incidents involving the white supremacist neo-Nazi hate group Goyim Defense League ("GDL"), which recently dropped explicit hate propaganda in area neighborhoods and parking lots, draped banners across International Speedway Boulevard, and projected messages onto Daytona International Speedway. The group also recently used megaphones to shout hate speech and terrorize people outside the Chabad of South Orlando.

In addition to condemning the spike in hateful conduct, the sheriff joined state Reps. Randy Fine, Tom Leek, Chase Tramont and state Sen. Tom Wright in calling for the passage of Florida HB 269, a proposal that would make much of the recent activity (such as littering yards and driveways with hate propaganda, or projecting it onto a building or stadium) a hate crime and a third-degree felony.

Among other provisions, the bill also defines "willfully following, harassing, or interfering with" another person based on their religion or ethnic heritage as aggravated stalking, also a third-degree felony and a hate crime.

Rep. Fine, who is Jewish, and a sponsor of the bill, said Monday that he believes the bill is guaranteed to pass the Florida Legislature: "There is no First Amendment right to litter, there is no First Amendment right to graffiti, there is no First Amendment right to assault, there is no First Amendment right to block someone's access to the place where they pray. In Florida, if you do that, you're going to go to jail, and you're going to go to jail for a very long time."

Absent from the event were members and supporters of the Goyim Defense League, some of whom have been busy making death threats on the Internet, including recent threats to "put a bullet in" Sheriff Chitwood's head, hack his computer, "dox" him online, and so on.

"I wear that as a badge of honor," the sheriff said. "Go for it. That's my message to you. Go for it." He added: "You came to the wrong county. I stand with my Jewish friends, and I'm honored to be on your hit list. It's an honor to be sought after by a bunch of punk thugs like you. That's my personal message."

One by one, several faith leaders representing congregations of Jewish, Christian, Islamic and Sikh backgrounds spoke out and expressed a message of unity against hate.

The Volusia Sheriff's Office and all local law enforcement agencies will continue to provide resources to ensure people of all religious and ethnic backgrounds are able to congregate peacefully, free from violent threats from bigots.

CRASH

as a result of the crash. The driver remains in serious condition.

Based on the initial investigation, police said it appears a 34-year-old male was driving an unregistered dirt bike west bound on Historic Goldsboro Boulevard. His two children were passengers on the dirt bike. A Ford 150 truck was traveling eastbound on Historic Goldsboro Blvd and attempted to make a left hand turn onto Mulberry Avenue when it struck the dirt bike.

Criminal charges are pending regarding the dirt bike that was not street-legal, had no headlight, and was reported to be traveling at a high rate of speed at the time of the crash. In addition, the driver of the dirt bike, nor the two young children were wearing helmets.

Regarding this incident, Chief Cecil Smith stated: "There is absolutely no reason that this should have occurred this evening. Tragic and completely avoidable doesn't begin to describe the loss of these two young lives. Those children should never have been on that dirt bike, and that dirt bike should never have been on the road. Those little ones should have been home getting ready to be tucked into bed, not speeding down the road in the dark. It is always the parent's responsibility to protect the tender lives of their children."

Anyone with information pertaining to this crime, please contact the Sanford Police Department or CrimeLine at 800 423-TIPS (8477) or visit www.crimeline.org. Calls made to CrimeLine remain anonymous, and tips to CrimeLine that lead to solving cases are eligible for a cash reward of up to $5,000 dollars.

ment with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

The settlement means Kyle Bainbridge will not have another opportunity to use a badge to make unwanted advances on women, Sheriff Mike Chitwood said.

"The conduct we discovered in this investigation was a disgrace to our badge and a black mark on our organization," Sheriff Chitwood said. "The only positive here is the lesson that harassment, abuse of authority and inattention to duty won't be tolerated at the Volusia Sheriff's Office."

The internal affairs investigation into Bainbridge began in April 2021 after a subordinate deputy reported the then-lieutenant repeatedly sent her unwanted messages and sexual advances via social media and text. She also reported that Bainbridge used her automatic vehicle locator (AVL) data to track her down and speak to her in person.

Around the same time, it was learned the lieutenant made similar advances on an officer from another law enforcement agency in Volusia County. Over the course of the VSO investigation, at least 6 women working in a sworn or civilian capacity gave comparable accounts of his conduct. Several mentioned his reputation for similar behavior.

The investigation also revealed a pattern of Bainbridge failing to respond to significant calls for service. His own AVL data indicated he frequently was not on the east side of the county where he was the assigned watch commander. He was found to be spending many on-duty hours stationary at his or his girlfriend's home.

Bainbridge resigned while the investigation was underway. At its conclusion, Sheriff Chitwood determined the lieutenant had committed policy violations including leaving his assigned work area, inattention to duties, failure to follow general orders, harassment, sexual harassment and failure to comply with a direct order.

"While I'm anything but proud of the behavior of our disgraced former watch commander, I couldn't be prouder of everyone who spoke out," Sheriff Chitwood said. "Their complaints were valid, and we took action. Today, the Sheriff's Office and our profession as a whole are better off without a law enforcement officer who's more interested in harassing women than doing his job."

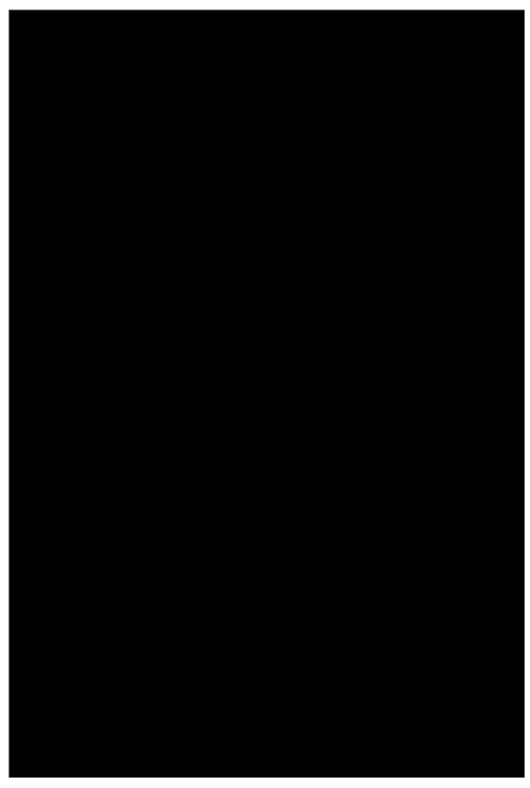
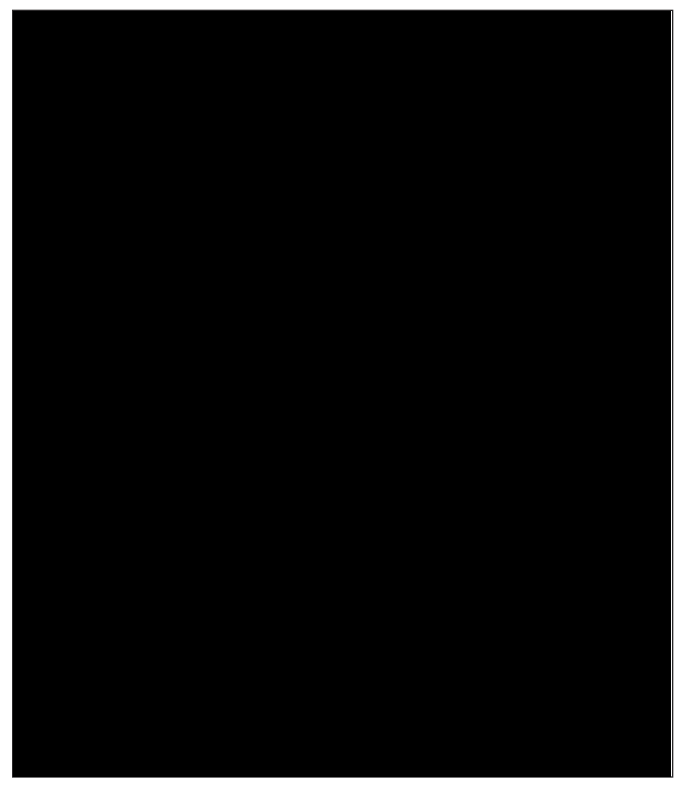
Shocking news out of Seminole High School





Herald photo (Lodge) by Romeo Guzman

Seminole High School has announced that Eric Lodge (left) has resigned as Head Football Coach to accept position in South Carolina and that Karl Calhoun Jr. (right) has been named the Interim Head Coach of the Fighting Seminoles.

Eric Lodge resigns to take Head Football Coaching job in South Carolina

By Dean Smith
Herald Staff

And the exodus continues.

For the second time, Seminole High School football fans have seen their popular Head Coach lured away for an out of state coaching job.

Following the lead of his mentor, Don Stark, who left SHS for the head coaching position at North Paulding High in Georgia, Eric Lodge announced Thursday after informing his players that he was leaving Sanford to become the Head Coach at 3-time South Carolina State Champion Berkeley High School in Moncks Corner, just north of Charleston.

Not long after Lodge made the decision public, Berkley High posted this Press Release:

Berkeley High School leadership is excited to name Eric Lodge as the Head Football Coach for the Stags. Lodge was selected after multiple rounds of interviews with highly qualified candidates from across the southeast.

Lodge spent the past three years serving as the head football coach at Seminole High School in Florida, one of the largest schools in the state with over 4,000 students. Boasting an overall win/loss record of 32-4, Lodge led Seminole High to capture the 2020 8A State Championship, the first undefeated state champion in central Florida history.

'Saving' a Championship

Wright's heroics give Trinity Prep its first-ever boys state soccer title

By Dean Smith
Herald Staff

Without much doubt, the goalkeeper is the most important player on a soccer field.

But they are often overlooked because for the majority of a game, they are standing on one of the field watching, while the action is on the other end of the field.

But it is almost impossible to win without a very good goalie.

In the case of the Trinity Prep boys soccer team, the position this year took on added emphasis as Shane Wright was many time not only called on to save shots, but to also score goals for the Saints.

Such was the case in the FHSAA Class 3A Final 4 as Wright ran the full length of the field to convert a penalty kick in overtime and then stopped several point-blank shots to give Trinity a 2-1 victory over Tampa Prep at home on Saturday, February 18, in a State Semifinal contest to earn a spot in the State Championship.

Then this past Thursday in the Class 3A Final at Spec Martin Stadium in DeLand, Trinity Prep (15-2-1) and No. 9 nationally-ranked Southeastern University School (19-2-1) from Davie battled through 80-minutes of regulation and two 10-minute overtime periods, which featured Wright making three spectacular diving stops of shots in front of the goal, of scoreless soccer to send the game to penalty kicks to decide the State Championship.

Wright's teammates did their part as Ryan Avallone, Caden Clifton, Mason Dowdy and Henry Brown each made their penalty kicks, while the Shark's third kicker missed the goal wide right, setting the stage for Wright, who is signed to play at UCF this fall, and the senior hit his shot just hard enough to pound off the hand of a diving NSU goalie for the Championship winning score.

The Sharks had outshot the Saints, 10-7, and their offense was much more effective as all seven shots were on goal, and saved by Wright, while two of TP's shots were on goal. Both teams had three corner kicks.

Photos submitted

Earlier this month the Trinity Prep boys soccer team began its championship drive by claiming the Class 3A-District 9 Championship (above) and capped the run by claiming its first FHSAA Boys title (right) Thursday in DeLand.

Trinity Prep is coached by longtime Seminole County coach Ray Sandidge, who was assisted ably by Lou Cioffi and his son, Ryan Sandidge.

Making up the Saints roster were:

Seniors _ Shane Wright, Mason Dowdy, Piers Rhee, Koray Tekin, Ryan Avallone, Nicholas Torres, Jeffrey Wang, Sergio Azzollini, Henry Brown and Carlos O'Connor.

Juniors _ Bladyn Kowalewski, Caden Clifton, Daniel Otero, Luke Gregg, Parker Brock, Angel Berreondo and Joaquin Carvajal.

Sophomores _ Wilder Judelson, Nikolas Polsinelli and Andrew Stricklin.

And Freshmen _ Gavin O'Brien, Gustavo Membreno and Christos Rooth.

Hendricks' career night leads UCF men's hoops past Tulsa

Taylor Hendricks posted a career-high 25 points and added eight rebounds and two blocks in 68-49 win

Special to the Herald

TULSA, Okla. — The UCF men's basketball team snapped it's three-game skid with a dominant 68-49 victory over Tulsa on Sunday night at the Reynolds Center. Taylor Hendricks, who earned his record eighth AAC Rookie of the Week honor on Monday, led the way with a career-high 25 points while the Black and Gold held the hosts to just 14 points in the first half, the lowest total by the Golden Hurricane in any half in the history of its home venue.

"I was happy with the way we started the game," said head coach Johnny Dawkins. "We definitely had a defensive mindset holding a team to 14 in a half is outstanding."

The game started out looking like a bake sale, plenty of cookies and turnovers to go around. UCF won the tip and turned the ball over on the first possession, but took it right back thanks to a C.J. Kelly steal and layup to give the Knights the first points of the game. Tulsa turned the ball over on its first three possessions. In total, the Golden Hurricane had four turnovers and the Knights had three at the first media timeout, where the score stood at 4-2 in favor of the Black and Gold.

Tulsa took a brief 5-4 lead, their only lead of the contest, which lasted for a minute and a half before the Knights went on a monster run.

UCF put up 17 unanswered points, pulling ahead 21-5 with 6:18 remaining in the first. Five different Knights contributed to building the lead, as Hendricks and Brandon Suggs had five points each, Ithiel Horton had four, Lahat Thioune had two and Michael Durr had one.

The Knights ended the half with an exclamation point as Hendricks took matters into his own hands. A lob from Suggs with just under 45 seconds left on the clock was finished off with a slam. At the other end of the floor, Hendricks grabbed the rebound from a missed three pointer. Holding for the last possession, Durr put up a three pointer with a handful of seconds on the clock. Hendricks was on the scene for the rebound, pulling off a spinning fadeaway at the buzzer to send UCF into the break up 32-14.

The 14 points allowed by the Knights was the lowest in any half this season, besting the 16 allowed back in November against Santa Clara in the final of the Baha Mar Hoops Championship.

Hendricks finished the half with as many points as Tulsa and added eight rebounds. He added a block and an assist, while shooting six-of-eight from the field. The Knights shot 53.8% from the floor in the first while Tulsa was limited to just 27.3%. UCF's defense forced 10 turnovers through the first 20 minutes.

UCF's biggest lead of the game occurred at the 14:01 mark of the second half as the scoreboard read 50-19, a whopping 31-point advantage. The 18-5 run was primarily powered by Hendricks and Horton, accounting for 15 of the 18.

Tulsa made a few runs of their own throughout the second half, the largest being an 11-0 run with 6:31 to go. The closest the Golden Hurricane got to leveling the contest was 16 points with under two minutes to go.

Horton and Kelly each contributed a dozen points in the victory.

Horton achieved a career-high in steals for the second consecutive game. He snagged four steals against South Florida to tie his career-high, then set a new career high with six steals on Sunday.

UCF continues its final road trip of the regular season with a trip to Philadelphia to visit Temple on Thursday for a 7 p.m. tip. The Knights will close out the regular season at home on Sunday, hosting East Carolina at 2 p.m. for Senior Knight.

UCF women's basketball outlasts Cincinnati in overtime

Monster games from Burns, Thomas lead hosts on Senior Knight

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO — Headlined by a pair of 20-point scorers for the first time this season, UCF women's basketball sent its seniors out in style with a 64-54 overtime win against Cincinnati Saturday afternoon in their final game inside Addition Financial Arena.

Seniors Destiny Thomas and Mya Burns shouldered the load for the Knights (13-13, 4-10 AAC), as Thomas earned her 12th double-double with 21 points and 20 rebounds along with four blocks, while Burns contributed 20 points, six rebounds and two steals. It marked the first time UCF has had two players with 20 points in the same game since Feb. 21, 2021, when the Knights also defeated Cincinnati.

"I'm proud of this win, especially on Senior Knight," said UCF head coach Sytia Messer. "It was a full team effort and our players fought until the end. Destiny has been the engine and I'm proud of her performance. Mya [Burns] set the tone early in the game and the way she transitioned along with getting a big steal towards the end of the game to give us the momentum."

The Black and Gold were locked in on defense to begin the game, forcing the Bearcats (10-17, 5-10 AAC) into eight turnovers in the opening period as UCF held Cincinnati to only seven first-quarter points and led 14-7. That total marked the fewest the Knights have allowed in a quarter against a conference opponent this season. Burns was aggressive on offense, scoring six points in the first, while Thomas added four points and two rebounds.

The Knights' defensive intensity continued into the second quarter, as by closing out on every shot they were able to force Cincinnati into tough shots. Rachel Ranke hit a deep three-point shot to put the Knights up 17-9 early in the second quarter. UCF showcased its unselfish play with its ball movement throughout the second quarter, the Knights had five assists on six made field goals. Sierra Godbolt showcased her vision with two back-to-back assists on a transition layup from Burns and a three-point make from Ashton Verhulst. The Knights went into halftime leading 35-19.

Indecisive decisions with the ball out of intermission led to four turnovers and five points for Cincinnati and following a missed layup out of a timeout, the Bearcats cut the lead to six with a made three-pointer. Burns was able to connect on a three-pointer to increase the Knight's lead back to nine (42-33) with 5:14 left in the third period. However, that was the final field goal UCF would make for the remainder of regulation. Still, Thomas controlled the paint, making it tough for Cincinnati to get anything around the rim with two of her four blocks in the third frame and the Knights headed into the fourth quarter with a 46-36 lead.

The Bearcats applied full-court pressure to begin the final 10-minutes, leading to five more UCF turnovers. Unable to get shot attempts, the lead was cut to four, the lowest it had been since the first quarter. The Black and Gold were only able to score three points in the quarter (2-for-5 at the free throw line) and Cincinnati took advantage, outscoring the Knights 13 to three. Thomas missed a pair of free throws with the game tied at 49-49 with 10-seconds left, but came up with a game-saving block in the paint as time expired to send the game into overtime.

Right from the overtime tip it was all Knights as Ranke knocked down a 3-pointer on an assist from Burns just three-seconds into the extra period, ending a field goal drought of almost 16-minutes for the hosts and following a Bearcat turnover, Burns grabbed an offensive rebound and started a fast break with Godbolt driving and dropping it off to Thomas, who was fouled and made both free throws to put the Knights up 56-49.

The biggest shot of the game came from Ranke moments later from the left wing on a three-pointer, assisted by Godbolt, to put the Knights up by 10, 59-49, with 1:24 left. UCF would close out the game making 5-of-6 from the free throw line and 9-of-10 from the charity stripe in overtime allowing the hosts to hold on for their fourth conference win of the season.

The Knights will cap the regular season in Tulsa tonight (Wednesday) with tip-off slated for 7:30 p.m.

Lodge

From 2015 to 2020, Lodge served Seminole High as their defensive coordinator, capturing three district championships in four seasons, and improving points allowed per game every season to just 11.1 allowed in 2019. Prior to his time at Seminole High, Lodge worked as the head track and field coach for the boys and girls teams, the defensive coordinator, and varsity defensive backs coach at University High School.

"We are extremely pleased with the results of our multi-state search, which led us to the highly accomplished Eric Lodge," said BHS Principal Katie Butcher. "It is certainly a testament to the school and community that Lodge has elected to leave a standout program to join our Stag family. We look forward to what he will accomplish to support our student-athletes in the classroom and on the field, as his record of having 35 student athletes receive college scholarships in just two full years of graduating seniors illustrates that his support and focus goes beyond the Friday night lights."

Lodge's role as the head football coach is secondary to his commitment to serve as an educator on the high school staff. Lodge holds both a Bachelor of Science, Sport and Fitness and a Master of Science, Sport and Exercise Science from the University of Central Florida, and will serve the school as a physical education teacher and head football coach.

"My family and I are blessed and excited to join the Berkeley family and the Moncks Corner community," Coach Lodge said. "We are eager to get to work and get Stag nation back to where we belong. Go Stags!"

Coach Lodge will begin his new role on March 8, 2023.

Lodge, 33, was also quick to respond on his own social platform:

"I'm forever grateful for the relationships and memories that I've created at Seminole High School over the last seen years. We have had tremendous success on the field and have experienced extreme high and lows off the field.

We were able to win the second state championship in school history, become the first ever undefeated state championship in Central Florida history, and have signed over 45 kids to college scholarships in three years.

Sanford is a special place that creates unbreakable bonds that will last a lifetime. There comes a point as a young father that you are faced with decisions to do the best thing for your family. I am resigning as the Head Football Coach at Seminole to accept the Head Coach position at Berkeley High School.

While I am sad to leave my Seminole family I an as equally excited to join Stag Nation and get to work with our team! My family and I are blessed to have the opportunity to become a part of a community and program with such a rich tradition of excellence!"

Lodge is the second area coach this past week, and latest in a long line of coaches yo leave Florida over the past two decades, to take an out of state job, joining Flagler Plan Coast's Robert Paxia, who accepted at job in Georgia.

The reasons are pure economics as no county in Central Florida pays its coaches more than $5,000 in stipends, while Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina often pays their coaches in excess of six figures.

On Friday, Seminole High School Athletic Director Lakisya Killingsworth-Kelly announced that Karl Calhoun Jr. had been appointed the Interim Head Football Coach for the Fighting Seminoles. Calhoun was an all-everything linebacker for the Tribe, graduating in 2013, and at Virginia Union College and was the Associate Head Coach and Defensive Coordinator for the 'Noles.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

It is certainly not necessary to memorize tables of probabilities to be a good cardplayer. In many deals, the right play can be determined by applying a common-sense approach.

In today's deal, declarer chose a line of play that ran counter to probabilities and common sense, and so cost himself a game. He won the spade lead in dummy, played a trump and lost the queen to the king. West returned a spade, ruffed by South, but since he had no further entries to dummy for another trump lead, he had to lose two more trump tricks to East's A-10 and go down one.

Declarer would have made the contract had he played the nine of trump instead of the queen at trick two, in which case he would have lost only two trump tricks.

In determining whether the nine or the queen is the better play, the correct approach is to ignore all trump divisions where it makes no difference whether the queen or nine is played. For example, if West has the A-K-10, declarer's play does not matter, since he must fail whatever he does.

Similarly, if the trumps are divided 2-2, South's play is also immaterial. He loses only two trump tricks, whatever he does. A 4-0 trump division is also irrelevant because declarer cannot prevail.

In the final analysis, after East produces the eight on the first diamond lead, the only case that matters is a 3-1 division with West holding the singleton ace, king or ten. Because it is twice as likely that West will have the singleton ace or king rather than the singleton ten, the correct play is the nine.
